Look at Home.—The papers throughout the North are very severe in their demonstations of the jury that acquitted Congressman Thompson, of Kentucky, of the charge of murder. In fact, a favorite topic has been the insecurity of life at the South, and the difficulty in securing the conviction of unrelevers, especially in Kentucky. Now, from what we have seen and heard of, we would as soon risk the South as the North. The hatter has no right to put on airs. The Port and Indian.—The Pope has created a commotion among the Irish. It seems that has become bankrupt, and the Irish were raising contributions for his relief. The priests were active in this work. The Pope has issued a circular forbidding the priests taking any part in this work, or permitting it to be done in the churches. This has almost caused a revolt in the church. Many leading trisbmen advocate a refusal to contribute "Peter's pence," a contri bution taised in all the churches, which constitutes a personal fund of the Pope. They charge that the Pope has been influenced by English that the Pope has been influenced by English enemies of Ireland, and has done this in order to gain favor with the English aristocracy. However, there are two sides to the story. Those who side with the Pope, say that he is determined to enforce the principle of non-interference in State affairs by the church, and that this Parks of the story, and thousands the best of the story. An agreement to support the grantor where it terms a substantial part of the consideration in the conveyance of land, is in the nature of a secret trust for the benefit of the grantor, and if the transaction leaves the grantor indebted beyond his means of payment, this secret trust will avoid the conveyance as to creditors not fully provided for. So, a son remaining and working in his father's family after becoming of age, cannot recover for such services without a previous contract therefor. TRANSPERRING NOTE. CONSIDERATION.

The hobler of a promissory note, indersed in blank, may, during the pendeucy of a suit thereon, transfer it by delivery, and still maintain the action in his own name. The court said: "When the holder chooses to part with a promissory note during the pendency of a suit, it may be agreed upon between him and the assignce that, although the delivery takes place, the legal title shall be considered as still remaining in the original holder for the pupose of prosecuting the suit.—Kerger vs. Shepherd, Supreme Court, District of Columbia. TRANSFERRING NOTE.

MONATURE AND RATIFICATION.

Action was bronght upon notes purporting to be endorsed by the firm of Mallaney & Hays. It appeared that the notes were not in fact indorsed by either member of the firm, or with their knowledge, but their firm name was so used by one Denis Mallaney, at the request of one Ryan, the maker. It was shown in evidence that all the parties had been intimate business associates, and for a time partners, and were all related, and that the firm were under personal obligations to Ryan, the maker. Dennis Mullaney had been a partner in the firm of Mullaney, Hays & Co., which had preceded the present firm, and was employed about the new firm, having some sort of claim for unadjusted partnership interest. He had, it seemed, previously signed the firm name in receipts for express matter, had collected money for them and had charged it to himself. In the absence of the firm he signed the firm name to the notes in question. The members of the firm were then informed about the signing upon their return, but did not disaffirm the signing until about the time the notes matured. The Court decided that, even if the evidence set forth above did not establish an agency on the part of Denis Mullaney in the beginning, it clearly tended to prove a subsequent ratification. It was also held that the neember of the firm name did not amount to forgery.—Mallaney et al. vs. First National Bank, Supreme Court of Indians.

The Kenticky Idea.—Kentucky's idea of letting "Pennsylvania go to the devil" needs with less and less approval from the Democratic party. The fear seems to be that, with a free trade platform, not only that State but a good many others will go in the same direction, which in this case means against the Democracy. Even Mr. Carlisle's real for free trade appears to grow cold in proportion as his chances of securing the speakership diminish. He is not entirely satisfied, he says, with the Kentucky platform adopted by the Democratic State convention last week. THE NEW PATENT DUST-PROOF Stem Winding Open Face Case

MANUFACTURED BY THE American Watch Co., WALTHAM, MASS.

This case is formed in one solid piece, withou joint or seam, opening in front only, thus avoiding the usual Cop, and securing greater strength and which an extra strong ervatal is fitted with an especially prepared water-proof coment, is attached to the case by screwing it thereon, and thus forms an nir-tight junction with the body of the case, which proof against dust and moisture. To railroad men, travelers, miners, lumberme and others, who are almost constantly exposed, and who have to make frequent reference to the watch, these qualities are of the atmost importance.

The following Letters tell their own Story.

"Valbosta, Georgia, July 20, 1882. I sold one of your Patent Dust Proof Cases about en months ago, and the other day it came back to amination, I found that the stem was rusty, and I inquired into the cause of it. The gentleman stated to me that he was starting some saw-logs that had lodged in the bend of the river, when his chain eaught in a bush and threw his watch into about twelve feet of water, and he was about two bours finding it. When he got it out, it was running, and he thought all right. In about three months, he found that the stem was bord to turn, and sent it to
